

Giant Cerebral Hydatid Cyst; A Rare Case Report

Babak Ganjeifar<sup>1</sup>, Majid Ghafouri<sup>2</sup>, Azar Shokri<sup>2</sup>, Farhad Rahbarian Yazdi<sup>2</sup>, and Seyed Ahmad Hashemi<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Mashhad University of Medical Sciences

<sup>2</sup>North Khorasan University of Medical Sciences

November 20, 2020

Abstract

Here we describe a 13- year old patient with the presentation of fever and abdominal pain. He had a history of 2 years headache and seizure. In MRI, a primary cerebral hydatid cyst was evident. The diagnosis of hydatid cyst should be considered in children with mentioned characters in endemic regions.

Hosted file

Clinical case rep j.pdf available at <https://authorea.com/users/377393/articles/494089-giant-cerebral-hydatid-cyst-a-rare-case-report>

