

Figure 7. Dietary composition of each spider (represented by a single square) and whether prey in diet was entirely native, entirely non-native, or mixed in origins. More spiders were eating an entirely non-native diet or a mixed diet in ginger sites. More spiders in native forest were consuming prey that was not identifiable.

771