

Figure 6. Number of ASVs detected in the dietary communities in ginger sites (left) and native sites (right) that were identified as native species or non-native species. More non-native ASVs were detected in ginger sites than in native forest sites.